Objective: Explore a joint venture between rainwater harvesters Isla Urbana and biodigester makers Sistema Biobolsa

Research Methods:
- Site visit to Mexico City
- Read & report on scholarly articles related to different indicators
- GIS maps & analysis

Findings: Great potential to increase revenue streams for each company and impact periurban communities positively by reducing external costs & reliance on intermittent services while increasing public health, nutrition, livelihoods, soil quality, incomes, climate change adaptation and energy independence.